Suppliers

We have engaged directly with both our current and new suppliers in respect of our anti-slavery policy in order to gain a proper understanding of the measures they have in place within their own business and supply chain, inclusive of full and detailed site audits, where appropriate.

We have reviewed all procurement policies and procedures and undertaken a full audit into our safe working practices within our supply chains.

We will continue to monitor our suppliers' duties and activities to effectively assess our supply chains whilst recognising that collaborative working remains vital to effectively mitigate issues and implement positive change where needed.

Our contractual documentation continues to incorporate specific prohibition against slavery or servitude, the use of forced, compulsory or trafficked labour and child labour in line with our policy and we stipulate that our contracted suppliers must hold their own suppliers to the same standards. We widely issue both our statement of intent and policy prior to new contracts being established to make our expectations perfectly clear.

Our policies on slavery and human trafficking

We are committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business. Our Anti-slavery Policy reflects our commitment to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to ensure slavery and human trafficking is not taking place anywhere in our supply chains.

We have in place systems to:

- Identify and assess potential risk areas in our supply chains.
- Mitigate the risk of slavery and human trafficking occurring in our supply chains.
- Monitor potential risk areas in our supply chains.
- Protect whistle blowers.

Supplier adherence to our values and ethics

We have zero tolerance to slavery and human trafficking. To ensure all those in our supply chain and contractors comply with our values we have in place a rigorous supply chain compliance programme. We reserve the right to terminate any contractual arrangement if there is a breach of our anti-slavery policy. We expect all suppliers to familiarise themselves with our policy and to act with due diligence and integrity at all times in a way that is consistent with its values.

Training

To ensure a high level of understanding of the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking in our supply chains and our business, we provide training to our staff. We also require our business partners to provide training to their staff and suppliers and providers.

Following a review of the effectiveness of the steps we have taken this year to ensure that there is no slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains we intend to continue monitoring our supply chain closely to ensure strict adherence to our policies and ensure that training for all staff is prioritised and undertaken.

Further Steps

In order to remain vigilant in combatting modern slavery and human trafficking, in 2023, we have taken steps to enhance the due diligence carried out on the engagement of suppliers.

We have actively monitored performance measures of our policies and procedures to ensure that they are effective and do not leave room for any risk of slavery or trafficking throughout any area of the business.

We have reviewed how we can be more effective in collaborating with both our staff and suppliers to support our aim of a zero tolerance approach to modern slavery and human trafficking.

In 2023 we continued to evaluate risk throughout the business and supply chain to identify the highest potential risks of modern slavery and human trafficking so we can implement the appropriate measures to reduce any such risk.

In summary our business remains focused and committed to stamping out any risk of Modern Slavery.

This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes our Group's slavery and human trafficking statement for the financial year ending 31/12/2023.
